NO GODS AT ALL

In my youth it was so easy to stand up and say smugly
Who was sane and who was crazy, who was wrong and who was right
Who was numbered with the angels and who sided with the devil
Who was good and who was evil, it was all so black and white
But the years have taught me better, good or evil do not matter
They're words our masters scatter to hide their bloody hands
And what's truth or what's illusion, what's order or confusion
Who's winning or who's losing just depends on where you stand.

Chorus:

There is no God - (Father, forgive us)
There is no God - (forgive we poor sinners)
There are no Gods at all
We tried to fly on the wings of a lie
We've soared so high - time to fall.

In my youth I was so certain that we had been chosen
To build a Garden of Eden in every human heart
But we'll never build that garden, we're greedy fearful children
Causing havoc and destruction because we're frightened of the dark
As the dark draws ever closer our fears we try to smother
By drowning them in bloody murder of our own kith and kin
And the stars have stopped their singing as the world goes madly spinning
And the devil's madly grinning 'cause he knows he's going to win.

Repeat Chorus - Then Coda:

There is no God - (What then do you believe in?)
There is no truth - (What truth are you seeking?)
There is no hope - (Without hope there is no meaning)
There are no dreams - (Why then are you still dreaming?)
There is no light - (The night can't last forever)
There is no love - (Is that a Question or an Answer?)
