SANTA BLOODY CLAUS (European version)

That time of the year is almost on us
When department stores will cheat and con us
And try to steal our money from us
So you'd better watch out because
There's a fat old jolly bloke
With a long white beard and a big red cloak
Who'll do his best to send us broke
It's Santa bloody Claus!

Chorus:

Who's going to send us destitute? – Santa! Santa!
It's not the VAT man in a big red suit - it's Santa bloody Claus!

And who's the kind old caring chap
That takes screaming kids upon his lap
And promises the little brats
Presents to pacify 'em
He's a generous soul is old St. Nick
Though not too hot at arithmetic
But he doesn't care the selfish old p-p-person
He doesn't have to buy 'em

Chorus:

Who's the man that parents loathe – Santa, Santa!
Causes credit cards to overload? – it's Santa bloody Claus!

Chorus: (after instrumental)

Who makes us eat and drink and over-indulge? – Santa!, Santa!
Till our eyes pop and our stomachs bulge? – Santa bloody Claus!

So when you hear the sound of a reindeer's hoof
As it lands and craps upon your roof
If your chimney isn't Santa-proof
You'd better hide because
If you don't then before you know
You'll be up to your arse in mistletoe
And then you'll hear "Ho-ho-ho-ho!"
It's Santa bloody Claus

Chorus:

Who makes us bankrupt ourselves? – Santa! Santa!
Sod him, his reindeer, and his elves – Santa bloody Claus!

Coda:

Who's as welcome as the income tax?
Who should be stuffed into one of his sacks?
Who do we all wish just wasn't there?
Apart from Georgie Bush or Tony Blair
Who's just all humbug and pretension?
(Apart from the two blokes we just mentioned!)
Who'll bleed you drier than a vampire's jaws?
It's that old bastard, Santa Claus.
